From: Qualification Based Selection (QBS) Coalition Chair Megan Fried

Position: Indiana QBS Coalition Facilitator

The ideal candidate for this on-call position would have experience related to the design or construction industry in Indiana, with a knowledge and understanding of both public sector and private industry procurement practices for professional services. The extent of on-call services vary, but have typically ranged from 2 to 8 hours per month. Individuals who were previously employed by a firm providing professional services would be well qualified, but current employment by such a firm would constitute a perceived conflict. The Facilitator's role includes QBS presentations at conferences, reactive meetings as needed for outreach to explain the benefits of QBS, and communication and coordination with member Associations.
